OIA awarded ANZ & Asia Autonomy Protect Partner of the Year for 2010

13 April, 2011 - Chicago, USA: Office Information Australia (OIA), a leading provider of information management solutions and services, today announced that for the second consecutive year we have been awarded ANZ & Asia Autonomy Protect Partner of the Year for 2010, presented at this year's Autonomy Protect Partner Summit in Chicago.

The Partner of the Year award is designed to recognise channel partners who have demonstrated outstanding business practices and serve as a model to the wider partner community. This award recognises OIA's leadership, innovation, technical prowess and pioneering spirit in the APAC region.

Sandeep Joshi, VP of Channels for Autonomy iManage said in presenting the award "OIA's contribution to the success of Autonomy iManage is tied to their technical expertise in Autonomy's products and their pioneering spirit in the Asia Pacific region. Their investment in IDOL skills gives them a deep technical bench to draw on in supporting WorkSite clients. Having been a partner for 15 years, OIA works across multiple verticals where they have become an expert, namely Legal, Accounting and Mining for the entire APAC region."

"This award recognises the commitment and investment OIA has made in Autonomy and its products, but in particular our fantastic team that is responsible for the delivery and support of Autonomy's Protect solutions. Looking ahead we are very excited by the ongoing development of functionality within our traditional solution set (WorkSite) but also the opportunities provided by the wider Autonomy offering, including Autonomy Consolidated Archive and iManage Universal Search," said Stephen Litton, Director of Sales & Marketing for OIA.

About Office Information Australia (OIA)

Since 1991 OIA has assisted businesses to manage their electronic assets and intellectual property with a range of solutions, minimising risk while maximising efficiency in handling enterprise-wide information.
